Ruminations ....

It is scary how quickly Fall falls. And the garden is an evident reminder that the summer is behind us. Most of the perennials are spent with just a few getting ready to burst forth into bloom. Our 'Monks' Hood flowers are on the verge of their annual show. They are an early autumn treat while the rest of the flowers are done for the year. It is also known as Wolf's Bane as poison used on the tips of arrows to kill wolves was extracted from the plant. I kind of hope that the voles and the squirrels and the chipmunks would feast on it, but apparently they know better. Monkshood a.k.a. Wolfsbane came to the public's attention this summer when a dozen people got food poisoning from a derivative of the plant. This week's projects include cutting back some of the perennials and getting the gardens ready for the winter hibernation. The pots in front of the Church are in need of some tending. A couple of the plants need to be transplanted now to give them time to root in for the winter – especially the rose bushes. The dahlia and calla lilies need a good frost before we pull and store the bulbs in the garage. Most of them that looked so wonderful were actually from last year's stock. They were incredibly easy to over-winter. Next year I need to remember to start them about a month earlier for a good head start. The agapanthus by the kitchen door is three or four years old and seems to survive the winter in the garage without an issue. In fact, every year it has sent up blooms without being watered at all, or any strong light. The new garden at the fence line on the south side should be great next year, though of the twenty plus cedars forming a hedge, five are struggling already. One of the additions to the lights gardens, finally, was some solar powered landscape lighting. I think we have a total of two dozen, though it is hard to keep track. It seems some go missing each week. Someone is stealing the lights. At first I thought someone was playing a practical joke, but then, as I surveyed the gardens, I noticed that six have been taken to date. Who ever is lifting them, I hope they have met the quota – it is expensive replacing them. It is such a disheartening and disgusting violation. If someone were to come looking to get me to sign a petition endorsing capital punishment, especially for such gross violations, I am not sure what I would do – at times! I have thought about the return of public flogging, or city center stockades. It just such a total lack of respect for the neighbour, and while I am ranting, those people who use our walkways and entrances, and gardens as their person ashtrays... 'I have them on my list and I know they never would be missed' (one of my favorite songs from Gilbert and Sullivan's the Mikado'. On a happier note, we were measuring some of the trees for Christmas lights. This year, the blue spruce on the southwest corner of the property has grown so much and after taking measurements it will need between 200 and 250 feet of lights. Lets hope nobody steals them too.

Fr. Roy

Announcements and Events...

National Healing & Reconciliation Collection

Catholics throughout the Archdiocese of Toronto are invited to participate in the collection being held the weekend of October 1/2, 2022 to support the Indigenous Healing & Reconciliation Fund. The collection is a national grassroots effort to assist healing and reconciliation with Indigenous Peoples of This Land. The fund was the result of a $30 million financial commitment made by the Canadian Bishops in September 2021.

Funds will support culture and language revitalization, education and community building, healing and reconciliation for communities and families and dialogue involving Indigenous elders, spiritual leaders and youth with a focus on Indigenous spirituality and culture.

This is an opportunity to follow the invitation of the Holy Father made earlier this year for each one of us to become engaged in the healing and reconciliation journey. For more information or to donate online, visit the website at: www.archtoronto.org

Looking for High School Community Service Hours?

Have we got an opportunity for you!

Prior to the Pandemic we had a group of young people who were involved in the many activities in the Church, from the Christmas Bazaar to the Fish Fries and other events that would happen throughout the year. We always had a lot of fun. We are looking to compile a list of young high school students looking for Community Service hours and who want to have a great time too. With parental permission, please call the office and leave your name and contact information, and we will be calling you to help with different activities through the year.
