Tiny Sparks

Our culture is forever trying to convince us that more is better and that bigger is best. Consequently, we draw conclusions that we will find substance in quantity and quality in excess. We tend to assume, for example, that someone must be important if they are driving a very expensive car. It takes heroic proportions to impress us. As a result, we take little things for granted. We may even put ourselves down as second-rate people because we are not able to impress others.

This Sunday's Gospel (Luke 16: 1-13) reminds us that little things count. Heroic deeds may impress us, but we should also be impressed by the ordinary - hardworking parents who make little sacrifices every day to provide a good education for their children; the custodian who keeps the halls of an apartment building spotlessly clean; the lowly paid gardener who takes good care of the lawn and the flowers in the garden.

Keep in mind that little things are the building blocks of greater things. They cannot be discounted. Our bodies, for instance, may be large, but they are composed of millions of tiny cells. All of them must function properly in order to keep us in good health.

In the Gospel, Jesus says: Whoever is faithful in a very little is faithful also in much; and whoever is dishonest in a very little is dishonest also in much. How we handle the little things in our lives indicates how we will handle larger issues. For example, we will never fulfill our Christian calling to become loving people if we do not show ordinary courtesy to fellow workers. We may be disappointed that our life is not more exciting, or that our income is not in a higher tax bracket, or that we don't have the influence to make needed changes in society. But we need to reflect that making comparisons is only a game. Everything we do out of love is important. An encouraging word to a teenager can change the direction of his life. Holding back uncalled for and uncharitable criticisms can make a coworker feel good about himself. Sending a greeting card to an old friend might bring her out of depression. Yes, little things do count. Daily life has its repetitious routines and a major part of our working day is dealing with the commonplace. But each day of our lives can be ennobled by the loving attention we put into everything that we do. These commonplace things could very well be keeping your homes happy and doing the best you can in your jobs. It could also be asking your neighbor about her sick child, making small talk with an elderly person next door who is very lonely or even volunteering to wash the dishes and doing other household chores. Anything done out of love is impressive. Let us consider the multiple opportunities we have every day of bringing some love into the lives of others. There is nothing we do that cannot be done in a loving manner. Try to perform your daily duties with more care-filled attention. Let us go out of our way to be pleasant to people even if we are not in the mood. Love is often demonstrated by heroic sacrifices, but more often by consistent, loving attention to small details.

Grace and Peace,
Fr. RCRA

First Communion and Confirmation Registration

We hope all our parish families have enjoyed the blessings of the summer.

As the school year gets underway, parish activities also begin to fill our calendar. This is a busy and very exciting time in our parish.

The month of September has always been the time when our parish invites parents to REGISTER their children for the sacraments. If you have a child in grade 2, or possibly grade 3/4, for First Reconciliation/ First Eucharist or they are in grade 7/8 and want to prepare for the Sacrament of Confirmation, the time to register is now!

If you are a parishioner of St. Elizabeth Seton Parish and live in our parish's geographic area, you are invited to register. The sacraments are celebrated at the parish.

Upon registration, parents are committing their families to regular participation in our Sunday Liturgy (Mass). Registration forms will be available for pick up at the parish office before or after any of the Sunday Masses.

The completed form must be returned to the parish office.

The deadline to return the completed registration forms is Sunday, September 28!
